

EXCITEMENT OF STRIKE CAUSES THE DEATH OF WOOLEN MILL MANAGER

Secret Agents Told Employees
the Blankets They Made
Were for Germans.

ROMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 10.—Alexander W. Mack, manager of the Hartman Woollen Mills, died suddenly in his office on day, as a direct consequence of the strike begun this morning, in which 700 operatives walked out. There were several acts of violence.

The doctors say that the excitement caused by the strike brought on an attack of acute indigestion, which proved too much of a strain for Mr. Mack's heart. He was the nephew of Henry L. Einstein of New York, owner of the mill, and he succeeded his father, the late Adolph Mack, in the management of the mill. He was the last of his family; his parents, brother and sister all having died lately. He leaves a widow, one son and two daughters. He was Republican candidate for Mayor of Romerville, having filed his petition under the Primary Election Law only a few days ago.

It is believed that the strike originated in the efforts of secret agents. Strange men harangued the crowds on the street corners all morning, trying to excite the strikers to violence. The boys in the spinning room were the first to strike and the strikers are now trying to incite the weavers and other skilled operatives to go out in sympathy. Thus far this has been avoided by shutting down the works.

The mills have been working overtime of late making blankets to be sent to Europe. The destination is not exactly known to the employees, but secret agents have inflamed the minds of the Italian, Polish and Turkish employees by telling them the blankets are being shipped to the German and Turkish forces. The spinner boys, who have been paid $1.25 a day, struck for an increase of 50 cents a day.

A mob attacked twenty girls in the street this morning because they declared they were going to work. The girls fought back with great spirit and escaped without much hurt.

There was a strike like this one a few days ago in the Somerset Mills, associated with the Hartman mills. The strikers asked for a sympathy strike. They got the increased pay they demanded and went back to work. It is reported that they are ready to go out now on a sympathy strike. The strikers' efforts have been making speeches to them, too.

SIR ERNEST CASSEL HERE.

Friend of Late King Edward Tells How War Has Hit English Racing.

Sir Ernest Cassel, former manager of the finances of King Edward VII, and intimate friend of the late King, was a passenger on the Red Star liner Lapland, which arrived here to-day. He said his first visit to this country in eleven years had nothing to do with the work of the joint mission of British and French bankers here to negotiate a war loan, as he had retired from active banking several years ago.

He said racing in England, because of the war, had dwindled to a few meets at Newmarket, which were satisfactory only to the owners of the highest class of horses, as the concentration of the best horseflesh in England in a few races run made it impossible for any except those of championship possibilities to win. Sir Ernest went to the Ritz-Carlton.

TOMBS PRISON ROBBED.

Engineer Arrested Trying to Sell Goods Identified by Warden.

Many thefts of metals and electrical appliances from the Tombs are expected to be cleared up by the arrest yesterday of Richard Chappel, fifty-two years old, of No. 522 Forty-fifth Street, Brooklyn, an engineer in the prison, who was caught by Detective Nelson entering a South Brooklyn junkshop to sell some of the stolen goods. Chappel was held for examination by Magistrate McGuire in the Fifth Avenue Court, charged with petit larceny.

Warden Hanley at the Fourth Avenue Police Station, Brooklyn, identified the goods taken from Chappel as having been stolen from the prison. Chappel's position paid $3,000 a year, Hanley told the police.
